

SONGS OF LOVE

A Journey of the Heart

Xingtian Ge

Soprano

Jiaxi Lin

Tenor

Yizhe Lin

Piano

Music has always been the most profound language of the soul, transcending the boundaries of time, geography, and culture to articulate the inexhaustible complexities of human emotion. Tonight's program, Songs of Love, is an invitation to traverse the vast landscape of affection—a journey that begins in the celestial and anchors itself in the terrestrial. From the sacred adoration of the Divine to the tender whispers of romantic intimacy, and from the deep-seated love for one's homeland to the reverent embrace of nature—we celebrate love in all its infinite grace. We invite you to join us on this heart-centered pilgrimage, where every note serves as a tribute to the forces that unite and sustain us.

PROGRAMME

Exsultate, jubilate, K.165 W. A. Mozart

Jasmine Flower 茉莉花 Chinese Folk Song

Sheng Sheng Man 声声慢 (Slow, Slow Tune) Yang Liu / Cui Kaichao

Love Remains Forever 爱永在 Kai Luan / Xiaoling Wang & Wenxu Li

6 Duos, Op. 63 F. Mendelssohn

- Ich wollt' meine Lieb' ergösse sich
- Abschiedslied der Zugvögel
- Gruss
- Herbstlied
- Volkslied
- Maiglöckchen und die Blümelein

Si mes vers avaient des ailes Reynaldo Hahn

La Capinera J. Benedict

SONGS OF LOVE RECITAL

Xingtian Ge

Chinese Soprano Xingtian Ge is currently studying for the Advanced Postgraduate Diploma at Royal Birmingham Conservatoire with scholarship. She completed her master's degree at Royal College of Music with study award in July 2025. She studied with Louise Crane in RBC and Justin Lavender in RCM.

Her Operatic roles to date include Cupitón (Orpheus in the underworld) RBC spring opera, Nannetta (Falstaff) in RBC opera Scenes, Adele (Die Fledermaus) Berlin Opera Academy), Zerlina (Don Giovanni) with Vienna Opera Festival conducted by Toby Purser, Madame Herz (Der Schauspieldirector), Adele (Die Fledermaus), and Blonde (Die Entführung aus dem Serail) in RCM Opera scenes in Britten Theatre conducted by Gary Matthewman and Sammy (Sammy&Remmy, which was a mini contemporary opera) in New England Conservatory, Boston conducted by Gregory Buchalter of the Metropolitan Opera. Opera Now comments on her: A Coloratura in the making with a powerhouse voice and brilliant physical comedy on show.

Xingtian excels at coloratura and brilliant high notes, relishing the sensation of her voice soaring. Her recital has taken her not only across China but also to the United Kingdom and Europe. Highlight in Mozarthaus Vienna, St.Martin's Church Birmingham, Jiangsu Grand Theatre and Shanghai Grand Theatre.

Yizhe Lin

Yizhe Lin is an Opera répétiteur and Collaborative pianist active in both China and the United Kingdom. She has worked closely with conductors Mark Austin and Paul Wingfield, as well as directors Rebecca Meltzer and Lysanne van Overbeek, taking part in major opera productions including Orphée aux enfers, Le nozze di Figaro, Ariadne auf Naxos, and Falstaff. With a keen sense of collaboration, she has received high praise in masterclasses with Pauliina Tukiainen and Markus Hadulla for her musical sensitivity and precise interpretation.

Yizhe is currently pursuing an Artist Diploma in Opera Repetiteur at the Royal Birmingham Conservatoire, supported by a substantial scholarship. Prior to this, she graduated with Distinction from the Royal College of Music, where she studied with Head of Collaborative Piano Simon Lepper, distinguished coach Roger Vignoles, mezzo-soprano Patricia Bardon, and BBC staff accompanist Elizabeth Burley. Her interdisciplinary training in both piano and vocal studies provides her with a unique perspective, enabling a strong sense of breath and deep literary understanding in her interpretation of vocal repertoire.

In addition, Yizhe is actively engaged in diverse artistic practices. She is a collaborative artist with the Birmingham Opera Company and a signed artist with Hemiola Music, and has been appointed as an 'Overseas Dandelion Ambassador' by the Chinese Culture Institute, promoting cross-cultural exchange on international platforms such as the Birmingham Light Festival.